

Dee Hansen is a Professor of Music Education at The Hartt School, University of Hartford, CT. She served as Director of Graduate Studies for The Hartt School, Chair of Graduate Studies in Music Education, and was Director of The Hartt Summerterm graduate program between 2006 and 2014. Currently she is Director of the Hartt Centennial Historical Project. Dee regularly publishes articles for NAFME, CMEA, and The U.S. Department of Education as well as chapters and scholarly articles for the International Society of Assessment in Music Education, Oxford, and GIA. She presents professional development training internationally and nationally on curriculum design and assessment, applications of learning theory, brain research and effective pedagogy, and literacy connections between language, reading, and music. Dee was the Fine Arts Consultant for the Kansas State Department of Education from 1994-2002 and President of the Kansas Music Educators Association from 2005-2006. She was primary author of The Music and Literacy Connection, 2nd Edition (Rowan & Littlefield, 2014). She is President-elect of The Connecticut Arts Administrators Association and on the Executive Committee of The National Council for Music Program Leaders. Dee is a member of The Hartford Symphony Education Committee and The Julius Hartt Foundation Board of Trustees. Dee performs as a Baroque and Renaissance flautist and harpist with the Entwined Early Music Trio and is an avid gardener.